

Script: Double Trouble

Episode 02 Breaking news

James Bradbury, apresentador do News At Seven, começa seu programa com novas notícias sobre o desaparecimento de Dave.

James: A week has gone by and Dave Last, the famous and controversial musician, is still missing after a plane crash. Search crews keep on working, hoping to find Dave. This tragedy had a major impact on the fans of Mr. Last, who was already considered the new king of pop. To help us understand more what happened, we brought here today Arlene Earhart, the pilot and the only crew member rescued so far.

Arlene está sentada ao lado de James na mesa do programa. Ela joga seus cabelos para trás, se preparando para a entrevista.

James: Good morning, Ms. Earhart. Tell us about this tragic accident you've just had.

Arlene: Good morning, Jim. I must say I'm still a bit shaken with all this. I'm very sad that Mr. Last hasn't been found yet. Besides being his pilot, I'm a huge fan.

James: Yes Ms. Earhart, we're all very sorry about this tragedy. So, how did it happen? What went wrong?

Arlene: If I knew what happened, I'd tell you. I'd rather leave these technical details to the experts.

James: And when the plane started to lose altitude, how did Dave react? What happened?

Arlene: Dave was terrified. I calmed him down and handed him a parachute. My first thought was to keep him safe. Then, I gave him all the instructions and he jumped off the plane. I jumped right after him, but in the meantime I lost sight of him.

James: What do you think may have happened to him?

Arlene: I did everything I could to save him,

that's why I believe he is safe and sound somewhere.

James: We all hope so, Ms. Earhart... We all hope so... Well, thank you very much for coming here today and congratulations on your bravery and selfless attitude.

Arlene: You're welcome, Jim.

Com a câmera de volta ao James, ele finaliza a reportagem.

James: On the other hand, despite the great sadness upon us, "Boom Records" seems to be profiting from the sales of Dave's new album, which went up after the crash. I'm James Bradbury, thank you for watching us. We'll be back soon with more information about Mr. Last, here, on News at Seven.

Rachael desliga sua TV após assistir o programa. Ela está cabisbaixa, sentada no sofá de seu apartamento, olhando para um retrato que tem dela com Dave.

Rachael: I can't believe you're dead. Damn it, Dave... How did this happen?

Ela passa a mão carinhosamente por cima da foto.

Rachael: I'm so sorry we had that argument. What do I do now, my love?

O celular dela toca. Ela atende, ainda olhando para a foto.

Rachael: Hello?

Powell: Hello, Rachael? This is Powell. How are you?

Rachael: What do you think?

Powell: I know... Sorry. Rachael, we need to talk.

Rachael: What happened? Say it!

Powell: I can't tell you over the phone. We're sending a car to pick you up in thirty minutes. Don't worry, everything is alright.

Rachael: OK... I'll be waiting.

Ela desliga o celular, e olha novamente para o retrato. Mais tarde naquele dia, Powell se encontra com Rachel na recepção da gravadora.

Powell: Hi, Rachael. I'm glad you came.

Rachael: Hi. Why did you call me? What happened?

Powell: Please, follow me and you'll understand.

Em outro andar do prédio, Rachel e Powell encontram Isaac.

Powell: Let me introduce you to Dr. Lupov.

Rachel: Doctor who?

Isaac: Good afternoon, Ms. Deckard. I'm Dr. Lupov, Isaac Lupov. Nice to meet you.

Rachael: Nice to meet you too, Dr. Lupov. You may call me Rachael.

Rachael: Mr. Powell, what am I doing here? Why is there a doctor? What is this place?

Powell e Dr. Isaac se entreolham por um momento. Powell coloca uma mão no ombro de Rachel para dar-lhe as notícias.

Powell: Rachael, Dave is alive. We found him.

Rachael: What!?

Dr. Isaac abre a porta de uma das salas do corredor, revelando Dave, inconsciente, deitado em uma maca. Rachael leva a mão à boca, surpresa.

Rachel: Dave...